Practical info & Hotel Accommodation

Destination

Agios Nikolaos is the capital of the region of Lasithi, East Crete and the fourth largest town on the island (Population: 12.000). Agios Nikolaos took its name from the old church of Saint Nicholas (7th-9th century), located north of the town. It's a beautiful seaside town, popular among tourists for its beaches and the mild climate all year long: it is warm, and there is plenty of sunshine.

Agios Nikolaos was settled in the late Bronze Age by Dorian occupants of Lato, at a time when the security of the Lato hillfort became a lesser concern and easy access to the harbour at Agios Nikolaos became more important. The lake, the town's jewel, is known for its many legends, according to one of which, Athena and Artemis are bathing in its waters. The lake becomes one with the sea through a narrow canal, and is surrounded by red rock formations and lush vegetation.

For more information check the The official Municipality of Agios Nikolaos webpage.

Conference venue

The EUSAIR Conference on Blue Growth will take place at the Wyndham Grand Crete Mirabello Bay, conveniently located just two kilometers from Agios Nikolaos, in a peaceful and picturesque place of natural beauty.

The contemporary conference premises of Wyndham Grand Mirabello represent the Cretan cornerstone and offer an ideal venue for professional meetings. The hotel has the privilege of being surrounded by two shining sandy beaches, which have been proudly honored with the "Blue Flag Award".

Transportation from/to the airport

The easiest way to get to Agios Nikolaos from Heraklion airport and vice versa is by bus. The EUSAIR Facility Point Greece has scheduled several buses back and forth the Heraklion airport and you are kindly requested to use the Buses Registration Form. The distance is 63 km and the time needed is approximately 56 min.

If you prefer to take a taxi, there is a taxi stand outside of the airport and a ride to Agios Nikolaos would cost around €85.

Alternatively, you may use the local bus company in Crete, KTEL Heraklion-Lasithi S.A. and you can easily check and book your ticket online.
